DEDICATION

AS AN EXPRESSION OF THE HONOR, THE AFFEC. TION, AND THE RESPECT WHICH THE STUDENTS OF GUILFORD COLLEGE HOLD FOR HER, WE, THE STAFF OF THE 1936 QUAKER, DEDICATE THIS ROOK TO OUR FRIEND AND OUR TEACHER-

Eva Galbreath Campbell

"YET ALL EXPERIENCE IS AN ARCH WHERETHRO' GLEAMS THAT UNTRAVELLED WORLD—"

FAR TRAVELLERS KEEP JOURNALS, SEA CAPTAINS LOGS, AND COLLEGE STUDENTS ANNUALS. WE HOPE THAT THIS RECORD OF THE YEAR 1935-1936 WILL KEEP FOR YOU THROUGH FUTURE YEARS THE EVENTS AND THE FRIENDSHIPS OF THE PAST YEAR AT GUILFORD.

WE ALSO HOPE TO GIVE YOU A GLIMPSE OF HISTORICAL SCENES FROM THE GUILFORD OF YESTERDAY, AND OF THE PRESIDENTS OF THE COLLEGE, WHOSE GUIDANCE AND INSPIRATION HAVE PRODUCED THE BEST THAT MAKES UP THE GUILFORD OF TODAY.

THESE ARE OUR AIMS. HOP-ING THAT THIS BOOK FUL-FILLS THEM, WE HUMBLY PRE-SENT THIS, THE SIXTEENTH VOLUME OF THE QUAKER. **

DR. ELWOOD CHAPPELL PERISHO

It is a great privilege for Guilford College to honor a man who has had such a great and wide influence as had Dr. Perisho. He was always radiantly cordial, deeply interested in and enthusiastically supporting every worthy person and movement.

Guilford College will increasingly appreciate his contribution as professor, geologist, administrator, lecturer and Friend. He will always be dear in the memory and high in the esteem of all Guilfordians.

CLYDE A. MILNER, President.

The Student Affairs Board, organized in the college year of 1927-1928, is the centralizing agency of all student activities on the campus.

This body, working in direct cooperation with the Faculty and Administration of the College, is composed of the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, and one member from each Student Organization and each college class.

The Board meets once a month to carry on the business for which it was created. This includes taking entire charge of the Student Affairs Fee and the budget, working with the Faculty Committee on the Entertainment Course, passing on the eligibility of students to hold office and to participate in major student activities, regulating and enforcing the Point System, holding annually a general campus election, and exercising general supervision over all Student Activities of the College.

The Young Women's Student Government Association was formed with the purpose of allowing the women students to govern themselves. The Council is a representative body elected by the women students; it is composed of a president, vice-president, two house presidents, a secretary, treasurer, and a representative of each class from both dormitories (except the freshmen during the first semester).

The main function of the Council is to enforce, in cooperation with the faculty, the rules and regulations for women students as they have been set up by faculty and students. Whenever any matter concerns both the men and women students, the two Councils meet together.

Besides the enforcement of rules, the Council attempts to help build higher standards among the women students and to create a better feeling generally.

The Council is a member of the North Carolina Federation of Students.

Composed of thirteen representative members, the Men's Student Government has as its objective the promotion of harmony between the students, the various organizations, and the faculty.

Within the last year the Council has adopted and put into effect a new constitution. Under this new constitution the representation is more adequate and the Council is better equipped to carry forward their ideals.

All real growth is slow. Much is gained through little advances. The Men's Student Government is growing. From the activities this year it is hoped that in the coming year the Student Government will continue to gain in prestige on the campus and in power that does not coerce, but that it may be a more potent force in helping to orientiate the newcomers to our campus, and in adjusting those inevitable difficulties that arise among any group of people.

"To realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God, to have a part in making this life possible for all people"—this is the purpose and the great goal of all Y. W. C. A. activity throughout this year.

In answer to the challenge of the present great world crisis there has been special emphasis laid on the study of international relations and a group has been organized by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. under the able leadership of Dr. Pope and Mr. Newlin to study such questions. In this club lively and revealing discussions have been held; capable speakers have directed the thought of the members toward causes of world conflict. Students have taken an active part in preparing reports for the meeting. The club, which is a member of the Carnegie Peace Foundation, has held a vital place in the campus activities.

The formation of the International Relations Club has been the distinctive service of the Y. W. C. A. this year; the Y. W. C. A. has also aided in directing the Sunday vespers and in securing outstanding speakers for joint Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. meetings.

The Y. M. C. A. sponsored and developed a number of valuable campus activities and proejets during the past year. In addition to securing several notable speakers for chapel programs and student conference meetings, the "Y" conducted the annual Guilford Institute, and in conjunction with the Y. W. C. A. organized the International Club and planned the Sunday evening sessions of Joint "Y," which took over the functions of last year's Christian Endeavor.

The reading room, which was started this year in Men's Center, met with unusual success, and, hoping to make it a permanent campus fixture, the "Y" has devoted its energy and budget in an effort to provide a hall for the use of the men students during leisure time and study hours.

In probably no other student activity is there a more specialized and more complicated technique needed than in the production of a yearbook; accordingly a few students have done the major part of the work. Those of us who have done this work are deeply indebted to the student body for their support, particularly for their interest in the making of individual pictures, and to the whole QUAKER staff whose quick response to calls for material has made the work much lighter. We also greatly appreciate the unselfish services of our four faculty advisors who have helped through their counsel.

We wish to acknowledge the fine spirit of cooperation shown by the men who helped us with the mechanics in the production of the book—W. A. Daniel and R. G. Benson, who were directly concerned with printing of the book; Clyde M. Bateman, whose company did the engraving; M. F. Dunbar, Tom Daniels, and Hugh White, our photographers, whose artistry is responsible for the photographic work of this book.

While this annual may now seem to you only another picture-book, we hope that in years to come you will turn to it often for an intimate glimpse of the campus life of this year.

The official news-organ of Guilford College is known as The Guilfordian. It is a bi-weekly newspaper which this year has appeared regularly for the first time in recent years. This year it joined the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association,

The Guilfordian, in addition to its news-gathering activities, has several other purposes. Its more interesting purpose is the stirring up of campus opinion on controversial subjects. The discussions are held in the column left open for "Letters to the Editor." At times polls are held to see what the student opinion is on various subjects. "The Gristmill," a column devoted to local literary talent, takes the place of the college literary magazine, and the traditional "Minnte Man" is the substitute for a college humor magazine. The Guilfordian provides future generations with a detailed account of campus life.

THE SOCIAL COMMITTEE

The Social Committee has been in existence only since the fall of 1932 when it was organized in response to a definite social need on the campus. It is composed of three girls and six boys, three of the boys having been added during the first quarter of this year due to the extensive social program undertaken by the committee. In addition to the regular freshman week entertainment, Hallowe'en party, and football banquet, the committee has planned recreation during the social hour each night, a monthly college party, and the reseating of the dining hall every two weeks.

The purpose of this organization is to create a better social atmosphere on the campus and to see that the entire student body has a part in the social functions of Guilford.

THE MARSHALS

Each year three men and three women are chosen from the Junior Class by the faculty to act as marshals at college affairs. The marshals are selected from the upper quarter of the Junior Class and therefore represent the intellectual leadership on the campus. Their duties are to act as ushers at all the public gatherings of the college. More specifically this includes acting as ushers at the presentations of the Dramatic Council and the Choir, and at Commencement time. In cooperation with the community Guilford College has had a lecture course in which well-known organizations and individuals have appeared. It is the duty of the marshals to usher at all these occasions and add a colorful formal note to the performances as well.

This year the marshals, with Charles Blair as Chief Marshal, have cheerfully cooperated both with the college and the community and have been willing to serve whenever they were called upon.

DRAMATIC COUNCIL

FRANCES ALEXANDER BILL GRIGG HERBERT MONTGOMERY

The Guilford College Dramatic Council was started in 1919 for the purpose of giving students who were interested in dramatics an opportunity to participate in the acting and producing of plays. Students may obtain membership on the council by carning a certain number of points obtained by acting in the plays or helping in their production. For outstanding work, keys are awarded.

This year the council has been meeting once a month at the home of their director, Mr. Philip W. Furnas, to read and discuss modern plays.

The fall play proved to be a very successful interpretation of "Death Takes a Holiday," in which the lead was taken by Daryl Kent.

The spring play was a comedy, a take-off on the Barrymore family, called "The Royal Family." Emily Virginia Levering, Dorothy Woodward, Ruth Stilson, and William Grigg gave successful interpretations of their roles.

The Dramatic Council owes its outstanding success to the interest of the students and their willingness to cooperate in the production of the plays.

centered their attention on the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament held at Rock Hill, South Carolina. The question discussed at the Tournament was, "Resolved, That Congress should be permitted to override by a two-thirds majority vote, decisions of the Supreme Court declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional."

Ray Hollis, W. B. Davis, Henry Nau, and David Stafford representing Guilford College in men's debating at the Tournament met teams from various colleges in South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, and North Carolina. W. B. Davis entered the extemporaneous speaking contest also and won second place. Ruth Hopkins and Dorothy Woodward, Guilford's first representatives in women's debating at the tournament, distinguished themselves by giving the winning team in their division its only defeat,

The Debating Council closes its activities of this year with the North Carolina Peace Oratorical Contest, which will be held at Guilford on April 24.

BEATRICE ROHR

THE CHOIR

The Guilford College Choir, whose reputation in choral singing has been established during the past eight years, has upheld that reputation this year under the able leadership of its new conductor, Dr. Ezra II. F. Weis. There has been appreciative response wherever the Choir has sung, whether in North Carolina or in the many other states on the eastern coast which it has visited.

Guilford presented an organization in 1929 which was considered in musical circles as something unique in Southern choral singing—an A Capella choir. Mr. Max Noah, its director, modeled the choir after Dr. Finlay Williamson's Westminster Choir. Since this time the choir's influence and reputation has spread through many of the Eastern States. The choir has given concerts as far north as Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and as far west as Cincinnati, Ohio.

As a project for the Centennial Program the Choir with the help of the Choir Alumni decided to raise money for an orgatron for the college auditorium with the help of the alumni who are members of the College Choir Guild.

"In Spirit and in Truth," the motto of the Choir, seems to be its motivating spirit. Stress has been made in the criticisms of the choir on the emotional values which it expresses.

In addition to giving concerts all over North Carolina the Choir has performed in these cities: Franklin, Va.; Washington, D. C.; Kennett Square, Pa.; Tenafly, N. J.; Pennsburg, Pa.; New York, N. Y.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Witheville, Va.

GUILFORD COLLEGE COMMUNITY CHORUS

DR. EZRA WEIS, Director

Several years ago there was the desire that there would be more unity among the college musical organizations and those of the community. The result was the organization of the Guilford College Community Chorus for the purpose of singing the best known church music. The first presentation of this organization was Handel's Messiah. It was then planned to make the performance of this oratorio an annual affair. In the spring of 1935, however, there was an expansion of the Chorus's work in the presentation of Rossini's Stabat Mater.

Dr. Ezra Weis with the assistance of Miss Maxine Kirch carried on the traditional Messiah performance in the fall of 1935 with the assistance of a string orchestra. There was an increased amount of choral and solo work. This spring, as its contribution to the entertainment during commencement week, the chorus will present Mendelssohn's Elijah.

JOHN P. ANDERSON

Coach learned his football at Hendrix. He was a linesman—a center. He came to Guilford in 1929 and has coached good teams and bad teams in his own enthusiastic way. He is an all tround coach, whether it be football, basketball, baseball, or simply a physical education class. All who know him work for him.

FRED NEWMAN

After winding up a highly successful football career of his own with the Quakers, Fred returned to school in the fall to help Coach Anderson in the coaching duties and played a big part in developing new varsity material and in building up strong reserves for the first string lineup.

Blanton, Wilson, McDonald Fox, Woolley, Leonard Johnson, Fitzgerald, Harrell

CO-CAPTAIN PAUL BOWERS

Culminating four years of football activities with the Quakers, Bowers plaved a brand of football that gave ample evidence for his being chosen leader of the Guilford griders. From his old position at end, he shone as pass-receiver and was an important factor in all the Crimson victories.

CO-CAPTAIN CHARLIE CARROLL

Although one of the smallest men in the Conference to hold down the center post, Charlie performed his snapper-back duties in stellar fashion, achieving a reputation as one of the deadliest tacklers in Lattle Six football ranks, and serving as an inspiration to his teammates throughout the season.

McCommons Comes Back With the Punt

THE SEASON

With a nucleus of eight lettermen bolstered up by several capable newcomers, the 1935 edition of Quaker football team battled its way through a truly calamitous gridiron season to tally but one victory against nine defeats in a tengame schedule. With one more game on their schedule than was played during the season previous, the Quakers faced one of the hardest rosters in years, and though heavily outweighed by nearly every eleven they faced, fought gamely against unusually tough opposition.

The initial practice session in September found two veteran backs returned to the fold, and six seasoned linemen on hand. The quarterback assignment promised to be well taken care of with Tilson back at the helm, but the only other letterman among the backs to report was Bill Capella, who resumed his old duties at the fullback post. Prospects for a strong forward wall appeared particularly bright with veterans back for every line position except one place at end and one at quard. Davis and Blanton, both seasoned tackles, along with Wilson at guard, Bowers at end, and Carroll and Woolley at center, seemed the makings of a powerful front line.

In the season's opening tilt on September 21st, the home team played host to a powerful eleven from Newberry College. The starting lineup found only two freshmen breaking into the game for the Quakers, and both of these were halfbacks—Ollie Acree, former Roanoke Rapids star, and Charlie Leonard, a Greensboro High recruit.

A Scramble in the W. C. T. C. Game

Six lettermen began the game at regular posts, these being Co-Captains Bowers and Carroll at right end and center respectively; Butcher Wilson at left guard; Davis at left tackle; Tilson at quarter; and Bill Capella at full. McCommons, Boyles, and Jim McDonald filled in at the remaining end, guard and tackle positions. Blauton, who would normally have occupied the right tackle post, was kept out of the game through injuries suffered in a practice session. The Quakers displayed great promise for the ensuing season by keeping the Indians on the defensive throughout the entire game with a dazzling aerial attack and were nosed out by a lone touchdown only after a brilliant game of football by either team. Acree, frosh half, stood out for the Guilford eleven, as he shared triple-threat honors with Beck, stellar quarter for the visitors.

On September 28th the Catawba Indians invaded the local gridiron for the Quakers' second home game of the season. Once again the fighting Quakers were forced to how down in defeat before superior weight odds, but the Indians, who finished up the season with a second place in conference standings, were hard pressed to beat the locals by three touchdowns. Meehan, Catawba's star back, teamed up with

JUST BEFORE WE SCORED AGAINST W. C. T. C.

Vaniewsky, place-kicking center, to form the big scoring threat for the Indians,

The following week-end found the Red team traveling into the environs of South Carolina to give battle to Wofford College's Terriers at Spartanburg. Facing a team with a strong gridiron record, the Quakers strutted their best form of the season up to this point and it was only lack of reserve strength that enabled the Territers to subdue the locals by two touchdowns in a last-minute scoring onslaught. Acree again stood out for the Quakers, harassing the opposition incressantly with his precision-like passing.

The Erskine Seceders entertained the Quaker squad on October 12th at Due West in the neighboring Carolina, and experienced little difficulty in battering the local machine into submission with a bruising brand of football to win by a substantial margin,

Hampered with injuries, the home team journeyed into Old Virginia territory on the following week-end and a powerful, hard-running crew of Royalists from William and Mary encountered little difficulty in handing the Quakers an overwhelming setback, as they rang up touchdowns almost at will.

On October 25th the Quakers again trod on Old Dominion soil, this time at Randolph-Macon, there the Yellow Jackets handed them a trouncing, thus avenging a 19 to 2 defeat at Quakers' hands the season previous.

With the season more than half elapsed, the local aggregation turned in their best performance of the entire year when they lost to the Lenoir-Rhyne Bears in a night game played at Hickory, N. C. The Bears had developed one of the heaviest elevens in the state during the season; pre-game dope figured them heavy favorites to win over the Quakers by a lopsided score. The Quakers, however, turned the tahles, and showing brilliant form both offensively and defensively, kept the raging Bruins with their backs to the wall for four straight quarters, losing the game by an eight-point margin after a series of bad breaks permitted the Bears to score. Cliff Fox, holding down the fullback post for Guilford, assumed individual honors for the homesters as he piled up vardage with his fine plunging and passing performance. The Bears chalked up their first tally early in the third quarter and scored again in the closing minutes of the game, while the lone Quaker score came just before the final whistle.

The lone victory of the year came at the expense of the Catamounts from Western Carolina Teachers College. In what was the last home game of the season for the locals, the Cats were downed by a margin of twelve points before a large crowd of Homecoming fans on Hobbs Field. With Fox, Leonard and McCommons doing the scoring, the Quakers ran roughshod over the opposition to have things their own way throughout the game, rolling up 15 first downs to the Teachers' 7, and amassing a total of 347 yards as against 122 for the Teachers.

The Roanoke College Maroons gave the Crimson a terrific battering in the year's semi-final grid struggle. Playing on their home field at Salem, Virginia, the Marocns trampled over the Quakers to win going away, leaving the Quakers crippled with injuries. The locals failed to score during the entire game as the Roanokes put on a shattering offensive. Blanton, Quaker tackle, left the game with a severed leg muscle which kept him out of the Elon game, while Fox received a twisted ankle, and McNeil suffered a fractured jaw.

The Quakers deviated their usual routine by meeting the Elon Christiaus in the season's finale on November 23d, instead of on Thanksgiving Day, as has been the custom for the past years. The Christians, who wound up the season undefeated to rule as conference champs, gave the Quakers a complete whitewashing and scored at will over the seemingly helpless locals. Playing on a bitterly cold day with a high wind sweeping across the Greensboro Memorial Stadium to chill both players and spectators, the homesters were powerless to stem the march of the Christians, and succeeded in reeling off only four first downs while the gridders from Elon were piling up twenty-three. Although doped to lose beforehand, the Quakers were expecting to give stiff battle, and the complete route came as a bitter ending as the curtain rang down on the season.

Several newcomers to the lineup developed rapidly, and by mid-season were displaying a brand of gridiron play that promises well for the Crimson and Gray during the season of '36. Acree and Byrd, both freshmen, stepped into regular varsity herths at halfback and guard respectively and came through in stellar fashion. Charlie Leonard, another freshman, took his turn as safety man and helped Quaker yardage considerably with his returning of punts. Cliff Fox broke in as regular fullback after the season was a game old and carried out his triple assignment of passing, kicking and running with such finesse that his teammates awarded him "most valuable player" distinction. Charlie Tilson, who has led the Quakers from the signal-calling post since his debut as a freshman two years ago, won well-merited recognition for his consistently fine performances when he was awarded the signal honor of leading the team as captain during the coming season.

Guilford, as usual, had a very large turnout for basketball this season. As a nucleus, Coach John P. Anderson had only two returning lettermen around which to mould his Quaker quintet. Green material was the chief force of the squad. After putting his forces through one of customary drill periods of about two weeks, they were given a series of warm-up games with such teams as Oak Ridge Military Institute and the Alumni before the regular campaign was opened to them. The percentage column does not indicate the type of ball the team played this season. In several instances overtime periods were needed to decide the outcome of the games. Several games were dropped by two or three point margins. Guilford proved to be a good drawing card in most instances. Capacity crowds witnessed a large number of the games, both at home and on the road.

Statistics taken from the summaries of the season's basketball games show that Guilford won six games and dropped sixteen. Captain Weston, though he started five games later than the rest of the fellows, piled up the largest total score during the season. Taliaferro trailed Weston with a total of 139 points and Overman came third with 135 tallies for his efforts.

Captain Setzer Weston, Thell Overman, Robert Taliaferro, Albert B. Blanton and Joe McCommons composed the first team. These fellows were augmented by Norman Boyles, Paul Chamber, Roy Boles, and Milo Gibbons.

In Weston were the capacities of a stellar forward and he performed in that fashion. He was mentioned for all-conference honors as well as being one of the highest scorers in the Little Six. The team will lose Setzer for next year, since he has completed his four years of active competition.

Thell Overman gained a varsity position early in the season when he proved himself a wizard at hitting the hoop. He too, was given honorable mention as an all-conference forward. Much is expected from "Coty" next season.

Robert Taliaferro, the string bean center, exhibited superior ability in his pivot role. "Stretch" showed the conference that he will be out for honors next year.

"Abe" Blanton played more consistently than anyone else on the squad in addition to being one of the best defensive players on the team. He will undoubtedly be one of the main cogs in the team next season.

Joe McCommons performed admirably this season. Besides developing into a fine guard he did some nice work at the center post. Norman Boyles, a sophomore, who won his letter for the first time, was called upon many times to guard and he executed his duties very well.

Paul Chambers and Roy Boyles, both freshmen, showed up well and should develop into a pair of classy forwards by next year.

Milo Gibbons improved over last year and should see quite a bit of action next season.

One of the highlights of each season is the Virginia trip. While meeting five very strong teams on their sojourn, the Guilfordians emerged victorious in two of their struggles, in spite of the fact that several of the men were somewhat incapacitated due to illness.

It may be well to mention that unusual school spirit was shown throughout the season by the student body as a whole.

The man chosen to captain the Quakerites during the season 1936-1937 was Joe McCommons. With his fine performance this season plus the year of experience as a freshman, he should be a standout on the team. He is well liked by his teammates and it is an exceptional honor, since he will only be a junior.

With this fine group of boys, all of whom will return next year with the exception of ex-Captain Weston, Coach Anderson can hope for better results next season.

They should have no trouble going places in their conference battles, and much is expected of them.

TENNIS--1936

With the return of three lettermen from last season's squad, the Quaker tennis team gives promise of turning in a better court record than last year's squad. Veterans Sykes, Parsons and Newkird are back on the courts to hold down positions one to three respectively. Parsons is captain and manager of the squad.

Greater enthusiasm has been shown by the student body towards its tennis team this season and an increased interest combined with the proper backing from the college authorities should soon give the Quakers a team equal to Guilford's North State Champions of a few years ago.

This year's schedule includes dual meets with Elon, Lenoir-Rhyne, Catawba, Appalachian, Wofford, High Point, A. C. C., and N. C. State.

Professor Furnas has been chosen coach for the tennis squad. Playing at the top three positions, Sykes, Parsons, and Newkirk have exhibited consistent performances, and the work of Fulp, No. 4, Surratt, No. 5, and Bowman, No. 6, has been excellent considering that it is their first year of collegiate competition.

Parsons and Newkirk make up a smooth-working doubles combination and Sykes and Bowman are paired up for the No. 2 doubles.

The prospect for next year is good with only two losses anticipated: Sykes, No. 1 player, and Fulp, No. 4. Several freshmen are expected to appear next fall to fill vacancies.

TRACK -- 1936

Fall track came into its own at Guilford during the past collegiate year when the Quakers put out a cross-country team of championship calibre. Of five meets scheduled, the Crimson came through with four wins against one defeat. North Carolina State, opening the season for the Quaker harriers, went down before the flying heels of the locals to indicate the strength of the Crimson and Gray hill-and-dalers. Four weeks later on November 16, the State runners eked out a 27 to 28 win over the Quakers on the local course in a meet which was part of the annual Home-coming Day celebration. From that point the Quakers went on to defeat the Randolph-Macon runners and the reserves of the University of North Carolina to wind up a brilliant season. The awarding of varsity "G's" to cross-country men for the first time, found six men receiving emblems: Blair, Warren Bowers, Hockett, Taylor, Alvin Meibohm, and Edgar Meibohm.

With a strong nucleus for the spring squad to be found in the cross-country men who reported, Coach Shepard expects to produce an unusually powerful cinder aggregation this spring. Meets have been arranged with Hampden-Sydney, Naval Apprentice School, Catawba, and Lynchburg. Six lettermen from last year's team reported back to the fold—McCommons in the sprints, Warren Bowers in the two-mile, Paul Bowers in the weights and jumps, Edgar Meibohm in the mile, Jack Hodgins in the hurdles, and Swaim in the weights and jumps. The rise of such new-comers as Alvin Meibohm, Henry Nau, Alton Davis, and Troy Boles will strengthen the squad considerably, since the loss of such veterans as Trivette, Price, and Tonge will leave big gaps to be filled.

JOHN P. ANDERSON, Coach A. B. BLANTON, Captain

The schedule for the season includes two long trips. The season will open on the first one when the team visits Atlantic Christian College and Eastern Teachers College during spring holidays. The second trip will take the team north for six days. This is the first time in the past few years that such a trip has been planned. Bridgewater College, Quantico Marine Base, Georgetown University, Swarthmore College, and Haverford College are slated to be the opposition in that order.

BASEBALL -- 1936

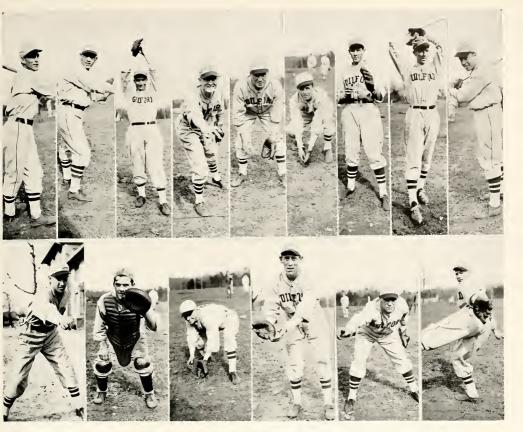

Things look bright for a successful baseball campaign this spring. There was a large turnout of potential ball players among which were nine returning lettermen.

The pitching staff appears to be the strongest in many years. Four lettermen, Weston, Hepler, Swaim, and Higgins, will be assisted by three freshmen stars, Acree, Boles, and Curtis. With this fine array of throwers the team should chalk up a number of victories out of the twenty-three scheduled games.

Norman Broyles, one of the leading hitters last year, appears to be a sure bet for the catching post. Charlie Carroll is slated to play at second base. Charlie Tilson, who earned his letter in the outfield last year, will bid for the shortstop position. Cecil Budd and Stafford Tonge will battle it out for the third sack vacated by Parker last season. The outfield is a real problem and the positions will go to the three men who show up best in hitting. William Capella is expected to hold down center field. Paul Hockett and L. A. Kyle will probably divide the time in right field, while Weston or Acree will bid for left field.

The hitting department may prove to be an obstacle for the Quakers, since most of the men are not heavy hitters. Boyles is expected to hit well above .300 this season. In practice Kyle, Capella, Hockett, and Budd seem to be pounding out some real drives. This of course cannot be taken seriously for they might hit a slump.

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

The intramural sports program of Guilford College assumed heroic proportions during the past year when touch football was added to the list of student games. Although professedly and reputedly far gentler than its prototype, tackle football, seme of the gridiron exhibitions produced on Hobbs Field would have done justice to an enraged squad of gridiron heroes from Sing Sing U. Undreamed of talent appeared in uniform, talent which ran more to debating rather than actual football skill, for every decision that the intimidated referee hazarded to offer was immediately received with shouts of rage by one team or the other which threw up cries of "rank injustice," "robber," "how much are they paying you?" etc. Forensic skill was at a premium, and Archdale and Center evidently had a more highly developed technique than the other teams in the circuit, for they wound up in a first place tie which was never played off for fear of incalculable infirmary expenses.

In the section haskethall tournament, equal confusion and boisterousness reigned. Kneeing, gouging, clipping from the rear and holding were accepted tactics, and only a broken limb or some similar disastrous hodily injury was considered as just cause for complaint. The "Yankees" brought home the bacon to the "Stadium" in the court program with a finesse that would have done justice to a squad of blacksmiths. Such stars as Kyle, Capella, Robinson, Tonge, Newkirk and Reynolds dribbled and pivoted their way through the opposition to overwhelm with ease the feeble resistance offered by their timid opponents from Center, Archdale, Old South, Old North and New North. Not only did the "Yankees" cop first place team medals, but their shining light, "Buckwheat" Kyle, trimmed the cords to chalk up individual high scoring honors. Sportsmanship, of course, runs high; each abuse is accompanied by a "beg pardon," but all the gentle apologies in Christendom would have difficulty in compensating for the scars and wounds of intramural battles.

WOMEN'S SPORTS

Julia Cannon is the president and Mrs. Anderson its director. They lead the council, and through it the whole athletic association, to stand for the true aims of clean playing, hard fighting, fair winning, and good losing.

Who won the hockey series? The Sophomores! This hockey season was one of the best we have ever experienced. The Juniors beat the Seniors in a hard-fought battle. The Sophomores walked away in the game with the Freshmen, probably, due to the lack of experienced players on the new team. Then came the excitement, Sophomores to play the Juniors. This game ended with a score 0-0. After resting a few days, they resumed their places on the field and played the game again. This time there was a victory of 2-0 for the Sophomores. A varsity team was picked from the winning teams who played the Alumnae on homecoming day. The varsity won by the score of 2-1. This victory had not been gained for several years.

Although hockey is one of our major sports, we participate in many others during the year, such as soccer, speed ball, kick ball, dancing, basketball, tennis, and baseball.

Basketball has long been considered a game more skillfully played by men than by women. The women at Guilford are beginning to feel that they can dispute this fact. Throughout the season good playing has been shown by practically all the teams. A tournament between class teams was held at the close of the season, and the Freshmen won with the Sophomores as the runners-up.

The pep and enthusiasm displayed by the college student body throughout this year was remarkable. For the first time in a long while several people attended contsts played away from home.

A special "pep" committee was organized early in the year for the purpose of creating generalized interest in athletics. It went so far as to have speeches made in the various class meetingss describing various phases and rules of football.

On several occasions it arranged for transportation of students to games.

One of the highlights of the year was large turn out of students for the Lenior-Rhyne football game played at Hickory. A complete bus load of students, plus several cars and even a motorcycle, went.

During baseball season the students remained optimistic and went to games. The girls were exceptionally true to the team. Except for the last week of the season when the team went north there were Guilford girls to see the team in action at every game.

With the attitude displayed this year to act as a precedent, the school spirit should be even better next year.
